ANGUS WARD

United States Consul General at Mukden

from 1946 to 1949

A particularly obnoxious case of international bad behavior was the house arrest by Chinese Communists of Consul General Angus Ward, his staff and their families, on November 20, 1948. A career foreign service officer who served in Tientsin, Moscow, Vladivostok and Tehran before his Mukden assignment, Ward was subjected to continued diplomatic indignity until he left on December 7, 1949. Next Wednesday -- in his first speech in New York -- Angus Ward will give OPC members and their guests a personal report from "Inside the New Manchuria."

REPORT ON SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING

President FRANK KELLEY on February 15 presided at a Semi-Annual OPC Meeting held at the Newspaper Guild Club. Forty-five members were present. A letter from RALPH JULES FRANTZ, submitting his resignation as Club Treasurer after more than five years of service was read to the membership, and a resolution adopted expressing the Club's gratitude for his selfless contributions to Club progress. President KELLEY then summarized briefly recent accomplishments of the Bulletin, Television, House, Admissions and Library Committees, and requested a personal report from LOUIS LOCHNER on the Dinner Committee (report covered on Pages 2 and 3). Later discussion centered on possible plans to move the Club offices into new and larger quarters and on suggestions to improve the OPC television show. Also, a telegram signed by HESTER HENSELL and announcing her resignation as elected Secretary of the Club was received by President KELLEY. Action on the resignation would be taken, he said, at the February 21 meeting of the Board of Governors.

"I WANT TO THANK THE OVERSEAS PRESS CLUB," writes BERYL KENT from Los Angeles, "for the many courtesies extended me through its membership since my return to the States a few months ago." Seems BERYL joined the OPC while in Tokyo. Then, planning to head homewards, she wrote asking for names of members in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Back went advice to contact PAUL C. SMITH of the San Francisco Chronicle and CLETE ROBERTS of Station KMPC in Hollywood. "Both men graciously extended press club facilities in their respective cities to me," BERYL commented gratefully. "This is a very worthwhile service," she said, "deeply appreciated by many like myself, who stay out of the States so long, we like to find some spot on return where we can find fellow reporters or entertain friends."
